

13 October 2015

As promised, meet our next family member:

Lumber City Clanwilliam:

The two young brothers, Claus & Henry Gey van Pittius decided to open their Lumber City in Clanwilliam some 17 years ago in 1998 (young then, still young now). There are some people to whom success is a stranger because they lacked persistence.

Well, these two boys (no longer boys) persisted, worked hard and grew. Starting as a small board and hardware store, building cupboards and serving the community, they built a business to be proud of.

Their stock range from any conceivable hardware product needed in every household and on every building site, to building materials, board products and glass.

They not only manufacture cupboards, but also furniture when they have the time. Their wives are also involved in the business and have their own craft corner where they give back to the community by having regular craft workshops. (Good for business too).
